Metropolitan Family Services Learning and Wellness Center is located in the repurposed Arthur A. Libby Elementary School Annex in the Englewood neighborhood.

The first of its kind in the area, the Center brings together early learning and children's health and wellness services, along with the family and community programs.

SMNG A provided design assistance with the renovations to classrooms to support licensure, with quality of learning and safety improvements to create a safe haven for children and families, and with upgrades to the leased underutilized CPS elementary school building.
